Launch Post - pic of leaflet

Thank you for everyone's responses to my post the other day about whether there is a need for a an independent carer service. It was an overwhelmingly positive response of a definite need. So in light of this I'm going to go for it!

I'm going to be working alongside business partenr name so we can buddy up if needed so we can provide a super reliable service.

So here goes....We are offering bespoke support packages which are truly tailored to your needs, in the area you serve and the surrounding areas.

We promise:

No squishing into time slots and rushing off to the next job

High quality person centred support

Your needs and wishes met in a holistic approach

We are fully insured to provide support and care

We hold relevant qualifications to ensure top level support

Enhanced DBS cleared

Full clean driving license and business insured to drive my car for work outings

Support could range from popping in to check your grandma is ok, to supporting a young adult with learning disabilities to find a hobby, to making tea for your dad with dementia or helping support people to bed.

We have a wide range of experience supporting many different people so all work will be considered.

Only a select few clients will be taken on so they can have priority support.

If you would like to meet for a chat as to how we could help you and your family, then please give us a ring or send us an email.

Details are on the flyer. (But to make it super easy your name 07856889159/ business partner name 07837414974/ email address)

We are very much looking forward to working with people to help them live as independently as possible.

And lastly, if people could help spread the word for us that would be very kind, give this post a little share, like our page page name and link and talk to people who might like our support.

I will put a few leaflets around the village too as I know some who might benefit from our help may not be on social media.

Thanks again for all your support with our new venture
